PROFILE

I approach my cinematography starting with what's best for the story and I live for the days of creating the world your audience will visit. I believe a strong working relationship with my director is very important as well as being involved from pre-to-post to help ensure a unified vision.

Adept at managing multiple tasks with ease, delegating with department heads, and communicating with directors, producers, & agency clientele. All while remaining a cordial and professional environment on set.
